

home.html

Our home page is contains the users collection of memes/gifs. On entering you will see a loading animation as your images are retrieved from our database. All your images will appear in no particular order. If you click on an image you will go the the images page where you will be able to comment and rate the image. We give our users the ability to sort through their collection with the following options: all, favorite, and 5-1 star ratings. If you right click you will be prompted a context menu that gives you the option of deleting the selected image. If internet connection is lost then the user will be informed.

Sort By:

All

This page scales according to device screen size.